Meeting the minimum requirements

- Is the name of the brokerage clearly and prominently identified?
- Is the name of the brokerage the same as the one which is registered with RECO?
- Does the designation “brokerage” or “real estate brokerage” appear with the brokerage name?
- If a salesperson or broker is placing the advertisement, is his or her name clearly and prominently indicated?
- If a salesperson or broker is identified, is the name used the same as the one which is registered with RECO?
- If a salesperson or broker is identified, the applicable description must be used:
 - broker of record
 - real estate broker of record
 - broker
 - real estate broker
 - broker real estate agent
 - REALTOR® broker *
 - REALTOR® *
 - real estate agent
 - REALTOR® salesperson *
 - or the French equivalents

 Limited to Canadian Real Estate Association members in good standing.*

Avoiding prohibited content

- Are all statements factually correct, accurate and verifiable? You must say what you mean, and mean what you say.
- Is all text clearly legible by the intended audience?
- If a comparative claim is made, has the basis of the claim or other information been included to avoid misleading the audience?
- If a statement regarding business volume or trading activity is made, has sufficient information been included to avoid misleading the audience or otherwise appearing to be inaccurate?
- If a promise or offer is made, have any conditions or limitations been identified?
- If the conditions or limitations are not spelled out, is information provided about where to obtain the complete conditions or limitations?

- If an honour or award is mentioned, has the source, date or other information been included to avoid misleading the audience or otherwise appearing to be inaccurate? If it is a team award, is that fact and the size of the team evident?
- Don't use words or terms to describe a brokerage, broker or salesperson that could be confused with the applicable descriptions noted within this document.
- Don't include anything, such as images or text, that could be used to identify a specific property, unless written consent of the owner has been obtained.
- Don't include anything that could be used to identify a party to a transaction, unless written consent from that party has been obtained.
- Don't include anything that could be used to determine the contents of an agreement, unless written consent from all parties has been obtained.
