Summary

Ahmed represented prospective purchasers. In making an appointment to show his clients a residential property, Ahmed was provided the code to the property's lock-box. The day after the scheduled showing, and without the knowledge or consent of the sellers, Ahmed returned to the property with his clients for the purpose of showing it to them a second time, thereby trespassing.

On review of an Agreed Statement of Facts, the Discipline Committee found that Ahmed had breached four (4) sections of the Code of Ethics: 3, 5, 38, and 39 and ordered him to pay a fine of $7,000.
