

Annual General Meeting Photography, Recording & Broadcast

NOTICE

When you enter RECO's Annual General Meeting, you enter an area where photographs will be taken, and the event may be recorded or broadcast.

RECO's Annual General Meetings are events for interaction and sharing ideas between RECO and Registrants. RECO, or persons or entities it has designated, will be taking photographs and recordings of its Annual General Meetings, including of those who attend. The Annual General Meeting may also be broadcast, including through the internet.

By entering the event premises, you acknowledge and agree that:

- a. you may be photographed, recorded, and / or broadcast;
- b. any photograph or recording of you may be used by RECO at its sole discretion for any purpose related to the functions of RECO;
- c. you waive any right to inspect or approve any photo or recording of you taken; and
- d. you waive any rights you may have to any claims for payment or royalties in connection with any publication / distribution, exhibition, or broadcast (including through the internet) of any photograph or recording of you, regardless of the purpose of such publication / distribution, exhibition, or broadcast.

You further release RECO, its officers, directors, employees, or any other persons connected to the Annual General Meeting from any liability in connection to the taking, recording, publication / distribution, exhibition, or broadcast of any photograph, recording, or broadcast of you at RECO's Annual General Meeting.